EUROPEAN CERTIFICATES AND ACCREDITATION FOR EUROPEAN PROJECTS

EU-CERT

Implementation and Future of EU-CERT

Dear Students, Educators, and Adult Education Providers,
In our final newsletter of this series, we will discuss the implementation of the EU-CERT project results and look ahead to the future of our accreditation system.

The EU-CERT consortium has been diligently working on implementing the project results to create a robust accreditation system for adult education. Our efforts include:

- Developing detailed quality criteria and accreditation procedures.
- Designing and programming a user-friendly accreditation website and database.
- Compiling an accreditation handbook to guide providers through the process.
- Rolling out the accreditation system to adult education providers to ensure widespread adoption.

Goals and Objectives

Implementation of Project Results

We have established a mechanism to monitor the effectiveness of adult education projects through our accreditation system. This ensures that the certification practices are transparent, consistent, and effective, helping stakeholders to recognize and value high-quality education outcomes.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The main goal of EU-CERT is to develop a sustainable accreditation structure that will continue to support the quality of adult education even after the project ends. By fostering a high-quality network of European adult educators and providing accessible accreditation information, we aim to enhance the overall quality and transparency of adult education resources.
